Board fills new role

The Haliburton County Board of Education made an "excellent choice" in promoting Dale Robinson to the newly-created position of Superintendent of Education, says Education Director Stuart Baker.

Robinson, the present Curriculum Co-ordinator, has proven himself to the board during his 17-year career with the Haliburton school system. Baker said last week. He has served as a vice principal on both the elementary and secondary levels and principal on the secondary level. Baker said the board is also impressed with the progress Robinson has made in his role as Curriculum Co-ordinator.

In a split vote, the board decided to create the new position of Superintendent of Education at its August meeting. The board also wrestled with the decision of whether to advertise nationally for the position or to promote from within the present staff.

However, at the October 27 board meeting, Baker said the trustees voted unanimously to promote Robinson to the position.

Robinson will become the board's first Superintendent of Education on August 1, when his term as curriculum co-ordinator ends. In the mean time, the board will be ironing out a detailed job description for the new position.

In addition to his new responsibilities, Robinson will be expected to continue on with curriculum development. Baker said that one of the tasks he would like to see carried out in the first or

Lake levels continue to slide

As the water level in Boshkung Lake continues to decline the shorelines around Echo Bay grow wider. The low water levels are posing new problems as winter gradually sets in.

Two years ago, in a show of frustration over the high water levels that were washing away the town's breakwater, residents of the Georgian Bay community of Meaford staged their own version of the Boston Tea Party when they sank a small ship in their harbour.

Haliburton County residents are now faced with the opposite problem as water levels in area lakes and rivers have reached an all-time low, and levels of frustration over the situation are reaching an all-time high.

Echo Bay resident Gloria Tomlinson has been watching her shoreline growing all summer to the point where it now extends almost a third of the way across the bay. On the Thanksgiving weekend, she said a neighbour walked all the way across the bay and never got wet above his arm-pits.

And now, with winter well on its way, Tomlinson is worried that her water supply will be lost when the exposed water lines from the lake freeze up. Her water line, which is normally submerged in the bay's water is now exposed across the muddy shoreline. The foot valve, which is normally about 10 to 12 feet deep is now under only about four feet of water.

Haliburton County lakes are reservoirs for the Trent-Severn Waterways, and many area residents feel the management of the Trent is largely to blame for the low water levels. The lakes were not completely filled by snowmelt in the spring and the summer's drought kept the levels on a steady decline.

However, the Trent's navigational season has ended, and the area has enjoyed a good deal of rain in recent weeks. Yet, lake levels in Haliburton have continued to decline.

Bruce Kitchen from the waterways office in Peterborough says that under normal conditions Haliburton's lakes would be filled in the autumn with excess water from upstream lakes. However, he says the upstream lakes are already below their winter levels, leaving nothing to run down to Haliburton.

The fact that Haliburton's

Youth injured in Hallowe'en mishap

Eleven-year-old Jennifer Scheffee suffered two broken legs and other undetermined injuries when she was run down by a car while trick-or-treating in Haliburton Village on Hallowe'en night.

Clifford Harvie, 27, of Whitby, is charged with impaired driving, driving with an alcohol blood level over the legal limit and failing to remain at the scene of an accident resulting from the October 31 incident.

Scheffee was out trick-or-treating with friends just after 6 p.m. when the car driven by Harvie drove up across a lawn and hit her. The car then struck a telephone pole while leaving the scene, Minden OPP report.

Scheffee was taken to hospital with broken legs and other undetermined injuries, police report.

A police investigation found the vehicle a short time later on South Kashiagawigamog Rd., south of Highway 121 with extensive damage. Harvie was arrested and held in custody until his bail hearing last Monday in Lindsay.

Constables Jim Solway and Brian Sachs are investigating the incident.

Museum equipment arrives

The Minden County Town Museum will soon be interviewing Haliburton's living pioneers now that it has received its new video equipment.

The new equipment, which was purchased with the support of funding through the Ontario Ministry of Citizenship and Culture, includes a video colour camera, a video cassette recorder and a colour television monitor.

With this new equipment, the museum plans to interview living pioneers of Haliburton County, put their recollections and accompanying pictures on tape and make the tapes available at the museum.

To prepare themselves for the task, museum members, in co-operation with the Ontario Historical Society, plan to host a Saturday conference on interviewing techniques some time in April.

The museum thanks the support of the Ontario government, the Ministry of Citizenship and Culture and Minister Lily Munro for providing the funding for the new equipment.

second year is an indepth review of the board's special education programs. He said the program has been in place for a number of years and he would like to know what kind of consistency there is at the various schools.

While the education director's role is to provide a link between the board and the Ministry of Education, the superintendent will be a strong link between the board and the schools. For this reason, Baker agreed it is an advantage to fill the position with someone who is already familiar with the schools and the staff.

Baker said there was no reason why the board should not have hired from within the system. He said Robinson, who has his Master's degree, Supervisory Officers' certification, and experience in a similar role, is well qualified for the new position.

Rainfall only slows lakes decline lakes have not responded to the recent rainfall comes as a surprise. Kitchen says the lakes in the Kawartha region have been rising with the rain, but in Haliburton the rain has only served to slow the decline. He says the dry ground must be absorbing the water, and points to the rising levels in area wells as a good indication that the ground level is coming back.

With just a month to go before winter sets in for good, the chances of the lakes coming back up to normal winter levels are slim. It is up to nature now, says Kitchen. Water is no longer being drawn off to maintain navigation downstream and it is not being held back upstream. He feels there is a chance the lakes will rise if enough rain falls over the next month.

In an effort to improve conditions in the waterways, a post audit of the Trent System is being conducted. However, the result of this study are unlikely to have a major effect on conditions in Haliburton Lakes. The post audit is restricted to looking for improvements within the present structures of the system.

In an interview last month, John Ritchie, from the consulting firm Acres International, said the only long-term solution to the problems faced here is to build new reservoirs to feed the Trent, something that Haliburton County Council has been fighting for some time.

Ann Barker, a Boshkung Lake resident and Stanhope Township Councillor, says that if something is not done soon, the Trent-Severn Waterways could have an uprising on its hands.

Barker agrees that this summer's drought is the cause of the low water, but feels water levels in Haliburton have been sacrificed to maintain navigation in the Trent.

"Why should we have to suffer because somebody wants to go through the Trent canal?" she asks. She feels there should be a more balanced share of the limited water supply. If residents of Haliburton have to suffer, then boaters in the Trent should also face reduced navigational hours.

"I know it's been a dry year," said Barker, "but they should realize as well." She said that the waterways management has allowed the situation to get out of hand.

The large boats that ply the Trent canal each year represent a large investment in recreation by their owners. This investment would be for naught if the canal had to be closed because of a water shortage.

However, Barker also notes that there is a tremendous investment in property on Haliburton lakes that is affected when the water levels drop to extreme lows. She feels that if something is not done to preserve the lakes, summer residents will stop coming here and full-time residents will be moving out. "The people have a right to demand some satisfaction."

"Haliburton has more water than most parts of the world," and this is one of the main draws for tourists to the area, said Barker. However, this year the water is so low, "we might as well live in a desert."

Now that summer has passed, and navigation has ended in the Trent, there is little that Haliburton residents do except hope for lots of rain in the next month. For some, though, winter is coming all too fast. The drop in temperature last Thursday night left Tomlinson with a frozen waterline and no water Friday morning.

The Gull River near this sign at Rotary Park is all but dried up.

October was a normal month, no big storms, no heavy rain, very little snow, about 1.5 degrees C cooler than last October and almost the same amount of precipitation.

Dorset acid rain report

The following report on precipitation is based on information gathered at the Ministry of Environment Acid Rain Testing Station in Dorset and compiled by Environment Canada.

There were four precipitation events during the period October 25 to 31:

- October 26, 5 mm of rain, pH 4.2 from Kentucky, Ohio and southern Ontario.

- October 27, 14 mm of rain, pH 4.2, again from Kentucky, Ohio and southern Ontario.

- October 29, 1 mm of rain, pH 4.2, from Lake Superior to Lake Huron.

- October 30, 2 mm of rain, pH 4.0, from Illinois, Indiana and southern Michigan to southern Ontario.

Environmental damage is usually observed in sensitive areas regularly receiving precipitation with pH less than 4.7. Readings of 4.0 pH or less are considered dangerous. The lower the reading, the more acidic the precipitation.

Highlands or drylands?

"Welcome to the Haliburton Drylands, where the beautiful beaches extend right across the lake beds. Notice the dark tans on all the resort owners who have had nothing but free time to bask since that fateful summer of 1988. Visit the Minden Mildwater Preserve, where children float their toy boats along the still waters of the Gull Creek. And don't miss the scenic tours of the abandoned hydro generating station a few miles up along the rocky river bed."

This is the sort of copy that might be expected in a Haliburton County travel brochure if next summer should turn out to be a repeat of the one just completed.

All summer long, residents and cottagers have watched Haliburton lakes shrinking in size as water was drained off to feed the Trent canal and no rains came to replace what was taken. Even residents who never go near the lakes were affected as the water table fell so low that many area wells went dry. And now with winter setting in, people who rely on the lakes as their only source of water are forced to take measures to prevent their lines, which extend across the expanded shorelines, from freezing.

There is no doubt that last summer's weather was abnormal. However, there are no guarantees that next summer will be any better. And since our lakes are controlled by the people at the Trent-Severn Waterways, they are the only ones we can turn to for some assurances.

They do their best to control the water levels, but must rely on nature to provide the rain to refill the reservoir lakes. However, the disaster experienced this year goes to prove that nature can't be trusted.

It has been said that the only reliable solution to our problems is to build reservoirs to feed the Trent when water is low. This would undoubtedly carry an enormous price tag, but so did the construction of the canal itself.

With the amount of traffic flowing through the system each season, it is important that the water levels are maintained at a navigable level. However, the cost of maintaining that level is being paid by property owners in Haliburton County. We feel this is unfair.

The Trent should have to share the consequences of a dry season by facing shortened navigation seasons. If this is not acceptable, then reservoirs should be built.

Let's remember

Each year on November 11 Canadians gather at the Cenotaphs in communities all across the country as a way of paying tribute to those who gave their lives to protect our nation.

While these services are organized and led by war veterans, it is always encouraging to see the many faces in the crowds of those too young to have fought.

Remembrance Day is the one day each year when we are reminded of the price that had to be paid for our freedom. It is the anniversary of the end of the hostilities in the First World War. And more importantly it is a day when children and young adults learn of the sacrifices made by soldiers killed in action.

In addition to honouring those who gave us so much, Remembrance Day is the time to ensure that this sacrifice was not in vain.

FCP thanks workers

Editor:

The Victoria - Haliburton Family Coalition Party will welcome Don Pennell, provincial leader of the party, as he addresses a group at the Olympia Restaurant in Lindsay on Thursday, November 12 at 7:30 p.m.

The local riding association is hosting an appreciation and information night for all those who worked so diligently in the recent election as well as all supporters and interested persons. They wish to extend an open invitation to anyone interested in learning more about the FCP.

In spite of the full coverage given in local papers, the major media in Toronto did not recognize the presence of the FCP in the election until the results were in and its surprising impact was undeniable. Thus many people have been curious about the party and its provincial leader. This will be a good chance to see him in person. Coffee and dessert will be served compliments of the Victoria - Haliburton Riding Association.

Real love handles

- by Arthur Black -

We live in a world obsessed with fatness. Two-thirds of the human inhabitants of Planet Earth (your pudgy correspondent included) spend a good portion of their waking hours devising fascistic exercise regimens and sadistic diet stratagems to melt some suet off their frames.

The bottom third of the earthling population would dearly like to put ON some fat, but that's another, sadder story.

The bookstore shelves in this part of the world are eternally awash with diet books - everything from Scarsdale and Stillman to Dr. Cooper's Fabulous Fructose Diet - the same shelves also groan under the weight of exercise manuals. You can find tomes on running, jogging, hiking, walking, biking, body building, 5 BX, 10 BX ... a body could burn off a significant raft of calories and firm up his bi's, tri's and quad's just by carrying home an armload of exercise books two or three times a week.

But it doesn't seem to matter what we don't eat or which muscles we flay with cruel and unusual punishment - the world continues to be full of fatties. Aside from one or two of those maddeningly skinny exceptions the Gods throw in to tease us, virtually everyone I know would love to lose some weight. Just five or ten pounds for most of us. Just to make up for all the overeating we'll be doing at Christmas.

If you've read this far anticipating a miracle diet or a magical exercise plan that will allow you to do up the buttons on your favourite suit once again, sorry amigo. I'm in the same gravy boat you are.

But I do have a little something that might make you feel better about yourself.

This'll work for anybody who's broader of beam and bulgier of bay window than they'd like to be. I don't care if the excess blubber your packing weighs in at two, twenty or even 200 pounds.

No matter how fat you may be you always have one thing going for you:

You're not Walter Hudson.

Walter Hudson is 42 years old. He lives in Hempstead, New York. He has curly black hair and big sad brown eyes. Walter Hudson doesn't know exactly how much he weighs. In fact he doesn't know even within a hundred pounds, how much he weighs.

He does know a couple of things though - he knows he has a weight problem. His weight problem is so bad he hasn't been outside his apartment for the past 17 years. He can't get through the door. Walter Hudson is the fattest man in the world.

He lives in bed, mostly, and probably would have died there, a mere neighbourhood freak, if he hadn't got wedged

What do you think about...

Black Monday

by Bill Kulas

History books will refer to a day a few weeks back, October 19th, as Black Monday. During that day, stock markets around the world faced a major crisis, where trillions of dollars were erased in a matter of hours. It was reported that an American by the name of Walton lost a billion dollars. When asked about the loss he commented, "it's only paper." Economists predictions of doom and gloom, which is being blown way out of proportion by the media is entrenching a deep feeling of depression amongst financiers around the world. Here in our country even though car makers, recorded a record month in auto sales for October are scheduling major lay-offs. General Motors in Oshawa have already made arrangements for lay-offs which could affect as many as 1500 employees.

Former Bank of Canada governor Gerald Bouey is highly critical of those economists who are forecasting that the economy is skidding into recession, although he does stress that excessive hype about a recession and harking back to the 1929 depression could become a self-fulfilling prophecy in that consumers could curtail spending and large businesses could cut investments.

What is the difference between recession and depression? Economists define a recession as two consecutive quarters of negative economic activity. The economy shrinks instead of growing. Canada experienced a recession during the first nine months of 1982.

A depression is a very long and very deep recession such as occurred in the hungry 1930's. During that period, gross national product continued to decline and as a result there was disinflation. Wages and prices fall as the economy continues to shrink.

Although the Canadian and American National debt load is very high, the economies of the two countries are very strong compared with the rest of the world. One thing for sure - there are a lot more attractively priced stocks out there compared to last month. You can be sure that before too long stock market investors will start taking advantage of that situation, or will they? What do you think?

'A day of reflection'

by Bill Scott, M.P.

For 670,000 Canadian veterans November 11 is a time for personal memories. They will recall campaigns fought thousands of miles away from home and colleagues killed or wounded.

They will be joined at ceremonies across Canada by millions who lived through wartime years and know just how families and friends were affected by events in faraway lands.

But we should remember that well over half of the Canadian population was not born when the Second World War ended. For them, war is the stuff of history books and television documentaries.

For them November 11 should be a day of reflection.

They can reflect on the 619,000 Canadians who went over to Europe to fight in the 1914-18 War. They left a young country to protect the age-old idea of freedom.

And when the shelling stopped and the last of the poison gas had been blown away, they were able to return to a Canada glowing in a new sense of nationhood won by their service in such places as Passchendaele, Vimy, Ypres and the Somme.

Such national pride was purchased at a terrible cost. Over 65,000 Canadians were killed and a further 120,000 wounded. Today, fewer than 5,000 Canadian veterans of the First World War are alive... the last survivors of an inspirational generation.

Young people can also reflect on the unselfish example of the million Canadians who saw service in the Second World War.

Once again, our countrymen and women went to the aid of friends and strangers in need. They served from

Hong Kong to northwest Europe. They served on the North Atlantic convoys, in the bombers that struck back at the enemy's war machine and in the armies of liberation that restored freedom to millions who had been held captive in their own lands.

As before, the cost of war touched all parts of Canada. More than 42,000 were killed and many thousands more returned home with wounds or the knowledge that the years of their youth had been squandered in prisoner-of-war camps.

Young Canadians can also reflect that yet another generation of our countrymen was called upon to fight in the Korean Conflict. Over 500 Canadians died in the service of the United Nations, defending the cause of international peace.

November 11 is the time for remembering such sacrifice. It is an occasion for pride and gratitude, a day to reflect on the unselfish qualities of Canadian men and women who left comfort and security to make the world a better place.

The Canadian war dead are buried in 70 different countries and in the seven seas. On November 11 they are remembered not only during the televised ceremony at the National War Memorial in Ottawa but at thousands of cenotaphs and memorials in every province.

Whether these memorials are grand or simple, they are all a permanent, every day reminder of sacrifice. They symbolize the truth of the words used by King George VI when he dedicated the National War Memorial in 1939: "The very soul of the nation is here revealed."

Editor:

My niece was kidnapped and murdered recently and for this reason I have written this letter in an effort to get public support to have the penal system changed to prevent convicted murderers from having day passes or early parole. For this reason I hope you will please publish the enclosed "Letter to the Editor".

I feel murderers should be declared a danger to Society and should therefore be locked up away from Society forever, without day passes or possibility of parole for the rest of their life.

When the death penalty was in effect and was imposed on a convicted murderer it not only set an example to other would-be murderers but it removed such a person from our Society forever and gave the public some sense of security.

Since the death penalty has been abolished the murderer has nothing to lose. They can rape, rob, torture and murder; the only penalty that can be imposed on them is a 'life sentence' - 25 years - with day passes and time off for good behavior. Then they are out in Society to do it all over again.

According to the news on a local radio station 130 such murders have occurred since 1975. That is far too many to be classified as an isolated case. It's time some positive action was taken to change the penal system.

Where is our protection from these murderers?

These murderers have shown no remorse; but certainly proven by their actions that they have no intention of changing their way of life. They will not hesitate to murder and rob to take what they want from Society.

It is time the penal system was changed to deal more harshly with these criminals and put them away forever.

When a person commits murder they automatically give up their civil rights. They don't consider the civil rights of the person(s) they murder.

At the moment our judicial system does not protect us from these known criminals. I demand a change to keep these convicted murderers off our streets and out of our Society.

This letter has been circulated as an appeal to the public for their support and has been sent to the following: Hon. Time to celebrate

Editor:

Now is the time for all civic-minded citizens of Victoria - Haliburton to recognize the people who have contributed to the quality of life in this area. Nominations are now being accepted by committees across the federal riding for Celebration 88 awards.

In conjunction with the 1988 Winter Olympic Games in Calgary and the cross-Canada relay of the Olympic torch, citizens of Victoria - Haliburton are being asked to nominate individuals for Celebration 88 medals and certificates. The torch relay will make its way through Lindsay December 21, Newmarket December 22 and Barrie January 7, 1988.

Up to six medals in each of a half dozen regions in the riding will be awarded to people who have contributed to sports and recreation in their communities. In addition, up to 100 certificates will be presented to those demonstrating an unselfish contribution to the community. Such contributions may be in any walk of life.

Each region (the town of Lindsay, Victoria County, Haliburton County, Township of Georgina, Brock Township and a small portion of Peterborough County), have established selection committees for the awards and are now taking nominations. Deadline for nominations is November 25. Ballots can be dropped off at a number of locations.

In Haliburton County, ballots are available and can be dropped off at the County Building, Minden.

Nomination ballots will be passed on to each local selection committee. Ballots can also be picked up at Victoria - Haliburton MP Bill Scott's constituency office in Lindsay.

Winners of medals and certificates will be honoured at special ceremonies throughout the riding early in 1988.

Government sets priorities

by John Eakins, M.P.P.

The Legislature resumed sitting earlier this month marking the start of the first session of the 34th Parliament. Delivering the Speech from the Throne was Lieutenant Governor Lincoln Alexander.

Some of the priorities for the next session include auto insurance and conflict of interest legislation. In addition, commitments made during the recent election will form the basis of government initiatives.

I was pleased that a number of constituents from Victoria - Haliburton travelled to Queen's Park to join me in taking part in the opening of the new session. In next week's column I will review some of the major initiatives which were highlighted in the speech.

While my colleagues and I will be working to introduce new initiatives and continue work on programs already in place. I am pleased that a number of programs have recently assisted the people in Haliburton and Victoria Counties.

In Bobcaygeon, the municipality will be receiving $4,000 to assist in ensuring safer traffic flows in the community. The Ministry of Transportation will be making the grant subsidy available to facilitate traffic signal modernization in Bobcaygeon.

My friend and colleague, Vince Kerrio has informed me that the County of Victoria will be receiving $64,000 under the Parks Assistance Act to assist in further development of the County's Centennial Park.

Thirdly, the John Howard Society of Victoria - Haliburton will be receiving $17,500 to continue the valuable service this organization provides to people in need.

While my new responsibilities are very demanding, I had the pleasure of attending the annual Warden's Banquet in Haliburton recently. I also spoke to the Fowler's Corners and District Lions Club a week ago where I spoke about the importance of the tourism industry to our provincial and local economy.

Hockey results

Deer hunting season seems to have taken its toll on the Minden Men's Recreational Hockey League as two of last Monday's games were won by default when teams were short of players.

The Times upped their record to three wins and no losses when they beat Halls by default. Home Hardware also won their game against Hartwick by default.

The Rockcliffe maintained their flawless record Monday with another high-scoring win over Vasey. The see-saw battle had Rock-cliffe come out on top of the 11 - 10 score.

The Rockcliffe's Bernie Upton and Vasey's Dean Hewitt each led the scoring for their teams with five apiece. Other Rockcliffe goals were scored by Jim Winn (3), Al Cunningham, and Merv Mintz (2).

Vasey's other goals were scored by Jerry Campbell (2), Kevin Hamilton (2), and Brian Clark.

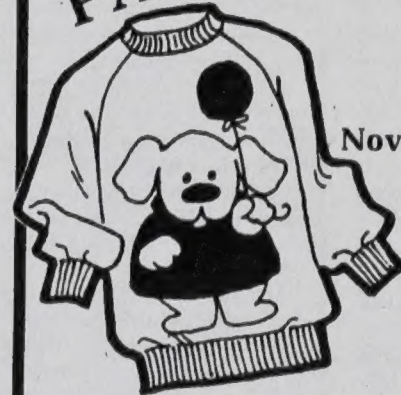

An exhibition game between Hartwick and Home Hardware saw Hartwick come out on top of another 11 - 10 score.

Sir Sam's readies for ski season

While the slopes at Sir Sam's Ski area still have much to offer the beginning and intermediate skiers, experienced down-hillers can look forward to some big improvements to one of the most challenging runs.

This past summer, while skiing was probably the furthest thing from most people's minds, the people at Sir Sam's were out on the slopes.

No, they were not skiing. They were hard at work removing a stand of trees at the base of "Crash and Carry", converting the run into a wide-open slope.

With the opening of ski season at Sir Sam's just over a month away, ski enthusiasts can look forward to a number of exciting developments.

In addition to the improvements to the hills, skiers will find more room for relaxing in the new chalet, which has almost doubled in size over the summer. Bob Bishop, owner of Sir Sam's says the chalet has been completely renovated and an addition increases the capacity to 400 people. At the same time, the equipment rental shop has been moved to new, roomier quarters and a lot of new equipment has been purchased.

With all these improvements, skiers might expect to see an increase in the price of their lift tickets. However, this is not the case. While most ski areas in the province are upping their prices, Sir Sam's has kept its the same as last year. Bishop says Sir Sam's now has the lowest fees of any ski area in the province.

With its nine runs, Sir Sam's offers a great variety of difficulty levels. For the beginner, or less confident skier, there is "The Banana." This long, gradual slope offers novice skiers a chance to find their footing before heading on to the more difficult runs.

Aptly named, "The Banana" is gently curved and sloped, allowing skiers to set their own pace. This slope gives people an escape from the moguls and the daredevil experts and allows them to ski along at their leisure and stop whenever they like to enjoy the beautiful view.

Not all the slopes at Sir Sam's are for the beginner though. The four lifts can take skiers to the top of any of nine runs, ranging from beginner to expert. "Crash and Carry", "The Ladder" and "Kingston Road" are the most difficult slopes, while "The Cash Register" and "The Birdwatcher" are intermediate slopes.

One of the more appealing aspects of Sir Sam's is the short line-up for the lifts. With its four lifts, Sir Sam's gives skiers plenty of choice on how and where to get back up to the top of the hill. The less time spent in line-ups the more time skiers have to enjoy the slopes.

Bishop says skiers will be pleased to see the return on the popular Sir Sam's Challenge. With over $5,000 worth of cash and prizes to be won, this is an event that is sure to interest skiers.

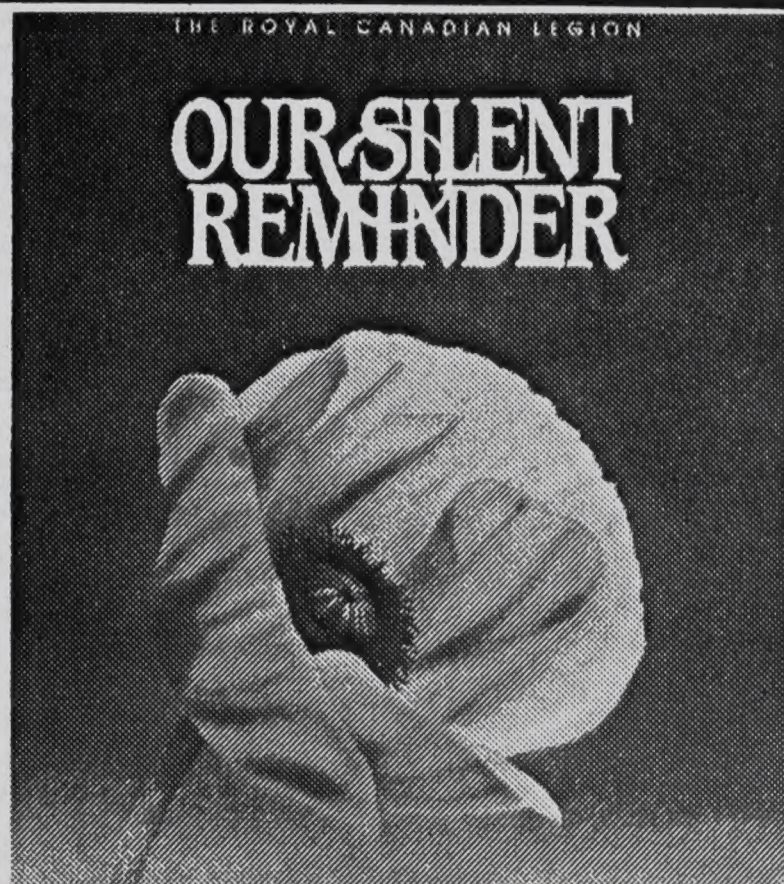

The challenge consists of six qualifying races and one final race on consecutive Sundays beginning January 11. To qualify, a participant must enter at least three of the qualifying races. Results from these will be used to establish handicaps. The final race is slated for February 22.

As usual, Bishop says Sir

Sam's will be opening on the first Saturday before Christmas. This year, that will fall on December 19. If the conditions are good, the hill may be open on the weekend prior to that.

Federation of Ontario Naturalists

by Marion Strebis

How many cans of garbage did you put out last garbage day? If you are participating in a community curbside blue box recycling program, you will have separated papers, cans and bottles from the rest of your garbage. If you compost kitchen garbage, green waste from the garden, and leaves, this will further reduce your garbage.

If you are doing all of these things, then you are really hooked on reducing, reusing and recycling your garbage. And you are not alone. About 150,000 households in Ontario participated in Class 1 blue box programs. In 1986, 77 municipalities were involved in some form of recycling.

In the past, most of our garbage has been dumped into landfill sites. A relatively small portion has been incinerated. However, incinerators currently in use, because they burn whatever is in the garbage including large amounts of plastic, release toxic substances like chlorine and dioxin into the atmosphere.

Also present landfill sites will soon be full. For instance, the Brock west landfill site, which Metropolitan Toronto is using, will be full by 1989. So far no alternative site has been established. Considering the noise of constant truck traffic, the dust raised and the stench, it's not much wonder that people near a proposed site react with, "Not in my backyard," otherwise known as The NIMBY syndrome.

Recycling schemes do cut down the amount of garbage which municipalities must deal with. Mississauga, which has just completed a full year of blue box curbside recycling program, estimates that the garbage has been reduced by about 12 per cent. The municipality is recycling about 1,200 tons a month.

But one element in our garbage has not been satisfactorily tackled. What are people to do with half-used containers of solvent, insecticides, or motor oil? Where do they dispose of things like batteries?

In the past these things in his own bedroom doorway and attracted the attention of New York police, fire and medical workers last month.

They levered him out of the doorway and back to his bed, but by that time the Press had got wind of Walter Hudson, he and his massive body became wire copy and television fodder.

Which may just prove to be Walter Hudson's salvation. Dick Gregory heard about Walter Hudson's plight on the evening news. You remember Dick Gregory. Back in the late sixties he forsook a lucrative career as a night club comedian to become a kind of Gandhi-ish black militant. He went on several prolonged fasts in support of black civil rights and against the war in Vietnam. Well, Gregory works out of Bermuda now. He runs a weight loss clinic there.

Call it humanitarianism, call it PR opportunism, but Dick Gregory has hitched his wagon to the flesh barge of Walter Hudson's body. He has vowed, that by putting Walter on a strict diet, he'll bring his weight down to around 200 pounds.

It's going to be a long haul. Nobody knows exactly how much Walter weighs - he's broken every scale they've ever winkled under him - but they reckon he's around the 1,200 pound mark.

Which means he's only half a ton away from his ideal weight.

Next time you get depressed about your spare tire or your love handles or your cellulite saddlebags ... think of Walter Hudson.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY "JEFF"

(Nov. 6, 1987)

Even though you're not here, we know you're having fun,
For today is your birthday, your twenty-first one.

It's mostly that smile and that friendly face,
That we miss so much around this place.

The days go on and we try to get by,
There's still some tears and often a cry.

Sometimes the pain of missing you is really bad,
But we just keep remembering all the good times we had.

The fun still continues and we try to smile each day,
Because we know Jeff, you wouldn't want it any other way.

So as we raise our "Canadians" with something special to say,
Here's to you our great friend - HAPPY 21ST BIRTHDAY!

We Love You - We Miss You

Take care of your feet

Dr. Stephen Dawson is a Medical practitioner serving the Minden community who writes a column on health matters for The Times.

Proper care of the feet is very important for persons with Diabetes Mellitus or Vascular Disturbances. For this reason, this week's article gives detailed instructions for people with this problem.

Hygiene of the feet

1. Wash feet daily with mild soap and lukewarm water. Dry thoroughly between the toes by pressure. Do not rub vigorously, as this is apt to break the delicate skin.

2. When feet are thoroughly dry, rub well with vegetable oil to keep them soft, prevent excess friction, remove scales and prevent dryness. Care must be taken to prevent foot tenderness.

3. If the feet become too soft and tender, rub them with alcohol once a week.

4. When rubbing the feet, always rub upward from the tips of the toes. If varicose veins are present, massage the feet very gently; never massage the legs.

5. If the toenails are brittle and dry, soften them by soaking for one-half hour each night in lukewarm water containing 1 tbsp. of powdered sodium borate (borax) per quart. Follow this by rubbing around the nails with vegetable oil. Clean around the nails with an orangewood stick. If the nails become too long, file them with an emery board. File them straight across and no shorter than the underlying soft tissues of the toe. Never cut the corners of the nails. (The podiatrist should be informed if a patient has diabetes).

6. Wear low-heeled shoes of soft leather that fit the shape of the feet correctly. The shoes should have wide toes that will cause no pressure, fit close in the arch, and grip the heels snugly. Wear new shoes one-half hour only on the first day and increase by one hour each day following. Wear thick, warm, loose stockings.

Treatment of corns and calluses

1. Corns and calluses are due to friction and pressure, most often from improperly fitted shoes and stockings.

Wear shoes that fit properly and cause no friction or pressure.

2. To remove excess calluses or corns, soak the feet in lukewarm (not hot) water, using a mild soap, for about ten minutes and then rub off the excess tissue with a towel or file. Do not tear it off. Under no circumstances must the skin become irritated.

3. Do not cut corns or calluses. If they need attention, it is safer to see a podiatrist.

4. Prevent callus formation under the ball of the foot by exercises, such as curling and stretching the toes several times a day; by finishing each step on the toes and not on the ball of the foot; and by wearing shoes that are not too short and that do not have high heels.

Aids in treatment of Impaired Circulation (Cold Feet)

1. Never use tobacco in any form. Tobacco contracts blood vessels and so reduces circulation.

2. Keep warm. Wear warm stockings and other clothing. Cold contracts blood vessels and reduces circulation.

3. Do not wear circular garters, which compress blood vessels and reduce blood flow.

4. Do not sit with the legs crossed. This may compress the leg arteries and shut off the blood supply to the feet.

5. If the weight of the bedclothes feel uncomfortable place a pillow under the covers at the foot of the bed.

6. Do not apply any medication to the feet without directions from a physician. Some medicines are too strong for feet with poor circulation.

7. Do not apply heat in the form of hot water, hot water bottles or heating pads without a physician's consent. Even moderate heat can injure the skin if circulation is poor.

8. If the feet are moist or the patient has a tendency to develop athlete's foot, a prophylactic dusting powder should be used on the feet and in shoes and stockings daily. Change shoes and stockings at least daily or oftener.

Treatment of Abrasions of the skin

1. Proper first aid treatment is of the utmost importance even in apparently minor injuries. Consult a physician immediately for any redness, blistering, pain or swelling.

Any break in the skin may become ulcerous or gangrenous unless properly treated by a physician.

2. Dermatomycosis (athlete's foot), which begins with peeling and itching between the toes or discoloration or thickening of the toenails, should be treated immediately by a physician or podiatrist.

3. Avoid strong irritating antiseptics such as tincture of iodine.

4. As soon as possible after an injury, cover the area with sterile gauze, which may be purchased at drug stores. Only fine paper or cellulose tape (Scotch Tape) should be used on the skin if adhesive retention of the gauze is required.

5. Elevate and, as much as possible until recovery, avoid using the foot.

have often been dumped down the drain or been pitched out along the road. At the moment some municipalities set up hazardous waste depots from time to time where people may bring substances for separation and proper disposal at sites like Tricil. This is at best a band-aid solution to a difficult problem. And it will certainly get worse. Many countries in Europe are experimenting with innovative ideas for dealing with this sort of waste. In Sweden, for instance, you must return your old batteries before you may buy new ones.

With landfill sites difficult to find, many municipalities have been forced to look for ways to reduce garbage. A curbside recycling program is a good beginning, but what is really needed is to alter the way people think. For years we've used objects which were never meant to last. Those days are over; we are drowning in our own garbage, and poisoning ourselves at the same time.

Recycling week November 16 - 22 would be a good time to start a recycling program in your area if one does not already exist. The Waste Management Branch of Ontario's Ministry of the Environment offers technical and financial assistance programs to assist municipalities and businesses in the development of programs aimed at reducing garbage.

Contact The Waste Management Branch at (416) 323-5200 for further information. The Recycling Hotline offers information on recycling to callers anywhere in Ontario at the toll-free number 1-800-387-5479.

People's life is mirrored in their garbage. What does your garbage say about your life?

Kirkfield go-karts able to expand

A Kirkfield area go-kart operator will be able to expand operations with the help of a $42,000 Capital Construction Assistance loan under the Destinations East program, Ontario Minister of Tourism and Recreation, Hugh P. O'Neil and MPP for Victoria - Haliburton John Eakins announced.

Stop 48 Ltd. is owned and operated by Peter and Daphne Baldini. They will re-surface the existing track, construct a new workshop building to repair go-karts, upgrade a surrounding fence and develop a new miniature golf course. The improvements are expected to attract 14,000 additional people to the Kirkfield area in the first year of operation.

"This project will benefit both tourism and recreation," O'Neil said. "The go-kart track and miniature golf course will provide good recreational entertainment while attracting tourists to the area. And tourism will boost the local economy."

The overall cost of the project is $84,000.

"I am pleased to see the project going ahead," Eakins said. "This will provide opportunities for residents of Kirkfield."

253 special awards presented

Ontario presented 253 special awards during Crime Prevention Week, November 1 - 7. Solicitor General Joan Smith said.

Crime Prevention Week, which highlights co-operation between police and citizens, also featured 10 seminars in cities and towns around the province.

Mrs. Smith, who presented awards at six of those seminars, said she is "delighted to have such an early opportunity to meet with people who work so hard to keep Ontario safe."

The week's final seminar was held November 6 at Ontario Place, and Mrs. Smith shared the platform with federal Solicitor General James Kelleher.

Mrs. Smith, who was appointed Solicitor General September 30, said she has been "impressed with the spirit of co-operation between police and their communities and the wide range of crime prevention programs they have initiated."

Recipients of this year's crime prevention awards include service clubs, businesses, schools, individuals, and police, fire, and correctional services officers who have worked - often on a volunteer basis - to prevent crime in their community.

Go placidly amid the noise and haste
And remember what peace there may be in silence.
Keep interested in your own career however humble -
It is a real possession in the change of fortunes of time.
Be yourself, Especially do not feign affection.
Neither be cynical about love, for in the face of aridity and disenchantment, it is perennial as the grass.
You are a child of the universe no less than the trees
And the stars and you have a right to be here.
With all its sham, drudgery and broken dreams, it is Still a beautiful world -
I wish I were a child again and at
My mother's knee,
To look at all
The lovely things
That only children see!

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

Q: Why is it difficult to keep a secret at the North Pole?

A: Because your teeth chatter.

Q: Why don't bananas snore?

A: They don't want to wake the rest of the bunch.

Q: Why are tight rope walkers like bookkeepers?

A: They know how to balance.

Q: Why do Eskimos cry so much?

A: They have to have their daily blubber.

A: This is a stick-up.

Hello Folks! November came in with lovely weather, let's hope it stays that way. Hallowe'en went off very nicely at Hyland Crest. We had 221 for trick or treats. Friday we had quite a few dress in costume. Prizes were won by Dora Dawson, Mary McKelvey, Maron Rose, Mike Elder, Carole Anne Schell and Jill Brown.

Walter Ackerblade came last week and took his sister Mable Buttery out for dinner and on Saturday she had a visit with her sister Mrs. Gordon Kellet. Edna Cowan has returned from a week's visit with Ray and Ferne Miller in Peterborough. Mr. and Mrs. Earl McConnell and Mr. and Mrs. Mansell Vurley came to visit Mrs. Casey. I had Jean and George Hewitt and Earl Milburn and his daughter Leona call on Saturday.

We extend our deepest sympathy to the family and friends of Wilbert Sisson. We miss him very much.

The C.W.L. of Haliburton brought our Thursday afternoon tea and Mr. Clements played the piano. It was enjoyed by all very much.

Our church service on Sunday evening was conducted by Rev. J. Burgess assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thompson and on Tuesday morning by Father George Elliott of Minden.

Winnie Barnum was out for dinner last week with her son Terry from Haliburton.

Our movies Monday night were "Land of the Long Day" and "Man Monsters and Mysteries".

We welcome a new resident Mrs. Lula Ferrill.

Hazel Hoskins has returned from hospital and seems very well.

My daughter came on Monday and took me out for lunch and then toured the countryside calling on some old friends, etc. It was a lovely day and I enjoyed it very much.

All for this time.

"I don't ever remember seeing a happy man, who had nothing to do."
